Whereas the truest heroes of the Iraq War are the members of the United States Armed Forces who have made the ultimate sacrifice of their lives on behalf of their country;

Whereas these fallen heroes have earned and should be given the highest respect of their country and its citizens;

Whereas the families of United States military personnel who have died in service to the United States should know the depth of the Nation's appreciation for the sacrifices they have made;

Whereas the cloak of secrecy that surrounds the return of the fallen heroes from Iraq and Afghanistan at United States military installations at home and abroad denies them deserved recognition and should be removed;

Whereas upon the arrival of the remains of their fallen loved ones, the families should be allowed to show their respects without restrictions;

Whereas the families of the Nation's fallen heroes should be permitted to escort the remains of their loved ones to their final resting places, with their transportation facilitated to the point of arrival of the remains in the United States; and

Whereas the final farewells of the family, friends, and loved ones should be conducted with appropriate solemnity, pomp, and circumstance: Now, therefore, be it
